

Wauwepex Presents Show

There were many laughs and long laughs at the annual minstrel show of Camp Wauwepex. It started to the tune of "Back In Your Own Backyard," sung by the entire Wauwepex group of minstrelers. "She's a Great, Great Girl," proved a big hit with its accompaniment of clanging tambourines. Scout Herman Herbert sent the crowd into spasms of laughter with a very dramatic recitation of "The Curse of Drink." "Get Out and Get Under the Moon" was sung by Beaney, while "Fat" Burns played "Ramona" on his violin.

The next number on the program was a solo, "Away Down South in Heaven," by Howard Ketcham, which was followed by a chorus number, "Tin Pan Parade," enacted by the end men with brooms for horses, tin horns and other entrancing articles. Jim Campbell recited a Swedish dialogue entitled "Peder-son at the Turkish Bath." Among the songs that were sung were "Pickin' Cotton," "My Heart Stood Still," "My Sweetheart Waltz," "Mississippi Mud," "Girl of My Dreams," "Varsity Drag," "My Pet and I Just Roll Along."
