

Scouts' Camp Wauwepex Opens 26th Year

Wading River—The 26th season of Camp Wauwepex, the Nassau County Boy Scout camp, opened officially here on Saturday under the direction of F. Howard Covey, director, and Irving F. Southworth, assistant.

"Camping in the Open" will be the theme of the program established for the seven-week season and the scouts will be given an opportunity to practice their camping and pioneering skills in the woods.

Second and third year campers will operate as patrols under a special program that will stress knot tying, lashing, cooking, hiking, packing and setting up improvised camp equipment.

A program of weekly shows and evening entertainments in the mess halls presented by staff and camp talent has been planned by Donald Croin, dramatics director, and Lynn Willke, music director.

A hillbilly band will entertain at the weekly dramatic show every Thursday and at the council fires on Friday evenings.

The six troops that comprise the camp will be under the leadership of a leader and assistant. Troop leaders are Richard Ott, New York; James Moreland, Baldwin, Edward Newbegin, Roslyn; Edward Craig, Port Washington; Robert Boyle and Harry Hanley, Stewart Manor.
