

Johnson Lauds Scout Leaders' Efforts

Mineola—Supreme Court Justice Cortland A. Johnson, president of the Nassau County Boy Scout Council, praised the volunteer work of 80 to 100 Scout leaders, who for the past two months devoted free week ends to the repair and improvement of Camp Wauwepex, which opens July 10 for the 2,000 Boy Scouts of Nassau County.

Under the leadership of the officers of the seven local districts, 200 tent platforms have been built, new pipe lines laid, roads repaired, dining halls completely reconditioned and all facilities made ready for the camp's opening.

Johnson said: "This has been as fine a demonstration of the spirit of Scouting that I have ever witnessed. Certainly I cannot speak to highly of these men who, in addition to serving the boys of their own schools and churches by giving them a Scouting Program, sacrificed their week ends to do a job far greater than we could ever have done, were it not for the fact that these men felt that they were performing real service to Scouting and to the boys of Nassau County."
