

COLD SPRING HARBOR. The Indian name for this locality was Nachaquatuck, and the name of the harbor Wauwepex. Formerly had several ships engaged in whaling. At the old tannery most of the drum heads used by the patriots in the Revolutionary War were tanned. The State of New York has located here one of its principal fish hatcheries.